Dear friends of open water swimming,

As Open water swimming in all its benefits grows at a phenomenal rate The Irish Long Distance Swimming Association [ILDSA] are undertaking a project to record the history and success of open water swimmers. Those who have swam a marathon open water swim distance of 10k or more in either togs or wetsuit, in all waters of the Island of Ireland. This ILDSA research project has fifteen volunteers with all four provinces represented on the committee. We are asking for your help to record your history, your ancestor's history and all our history to inspire each other and most importantly inspire the next generation of open water swimmers to dream up and achieve wonderful adventures not only on our shores but all over the globe.

In our culture we have a strong tradition of adventure and exploration. Irish open water swimmers are globally known as some of the toughest and heartiest on earth albeit that our humbleness has often meant that our successes in the history of swimming have been unrecorded and lost. We all have an inspirational swimmer from our community who has inspired us with their achievements. Let's find them

ILDSA are working with SWIM IRELAND, National press and using all means of media to extend the quest for information to as large an audience as possible. Perhaps a friend of a friend you know or your family member swam from here to there or perhaps you swam yourself.

ILDSA are making public call to you and all swim clubs to delve into their archival material, identify swimmers from their club who have excelled in marathon open water swimming in the past and forward onto us details of their swims, This information will create a historical catalogue and then be available online in a new database on the ILDSA website. At this time, we are excluding swims which were 'mass starts' or 'group starts'. One exception here is Lough Erne Swim which is a mass start and is the 'ILDSA Championships'. ILDSA solely record this swims history so we choose to include it. Swims shorter than 10K may be considered if they are deemed as epic/ pioneering swims. Please speak to your regional representative about each individual achievement. All information will be verified before it is included in the history.

We would appreciate if you could support us in this endeavour to document historic marathon swims in Ireland by forwarding any details that would be of help in putting this all together and passing the request on to a friend who may also have information to help our quest.

We look forward to sharing your history with the whole world of open water swimming.

Yours in sport,

Pádraig Mallon
